DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of group I, embodiment 1, figure 1, claims 1-9 and 11 in the reply filed on 10/03/2005 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that claims 1-9 and 11 read on figure 1. This is not found persuasive because claim 11 do not read of the elected species of figure 1 [note: no magnetic core inductor shown in figure 1]. Claims 1-9 will be examined herewith.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-2 and 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Medved [US 1,727,932].

Medved discloses an inductor device [figures 1-3] comprising:

- at least one conical coil inductor [2] having a broad end with radius r1 and a narrow end with radius r2, the conical coil inductor also having a board end terminal and a narrow end terminal [1];
- a base [4] with substantially flat surface; and

Art Unit: 2832

- at least one support structure [6, 7, 8, 12, 12A, 12B], such that the conical coil inductor being supported by the at least one support above the base at a distance greater than the broad end radius.

Regarding claim 2, Medved discloses the narrow end terminal of the conical coil positioned at a minimum height above the substantially flat surface of the base.

Regarding claim 6, Medved discloses the conical coil inductor being supported by the at least one support such that an imaginary center line through which the conical coil inductor is substantially parallel to the base, and also such that the broad end of the conical coil inductor is supported above the base.

Regarding claim 7, Medved discloses the at least one support and the base formed of dielectric/insulative material.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3-4 and 8-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Medved.

Medved discloses the instant claimed invention except for the specific connections of the narrow and broad end terminals and the specific material of at least one support.

Art Unit: 2832

The specific connections of the narrow and broad end terminals and the specific material for the support would have been an obvious design consideration based on the intended application and environment used.
